

WASTE MANAGEMENT

In an era of environmental awareness, sustainability, tightening budgets and strained resources, issues such as efficiency, productivity and cost reduction are more important than ever.

Lerch Bates Inc. is an industry leader in Waste Management solutions. Our experts can help your organization cut waste processing costs and streamline waste management operations by conducting a thorough assessment of your operations and infrastructure. We specialize in general, recyclable, compostable, confidential, sharps, bio-medical, pathological, radioactive and pharmaceutical waste streams.

Our waste management services are directed towards creating safe environments for holding, transporting and processing all types of solid waste products. We review potential alternatives to identify options which will have the greatest benefit for your organization. Our consultants will assist you in establishing a Waste Management program for your facility. This program will identify waste:

- Types
- Streams
- Segregation
- Specialized Processing (On-site and Off-site)
- Operational Programming
- Implementation and Training

Lerch Bates discovers areas where efficiencies can be gained and opportunities can be capitalized on. Lerch Bates advises our clients on the most realistic solutions and provides implementation support as needed.
